

What are we doing?

What is Critical Mass?

I dunno, but maybe...

It's a spontaneous gathering (last Friday of EVERY month, 5:30PM, Copley -- you didn't hear it from me) of folks with a common goal (dinner, maybe a movie, whadaya think?).

It's a rolling cocktail party (drinking in moderation! Maybe a cigarette -- we're not doing this for our health, y'know)

It's a physical manifestation of the fun you could have if you joined us... today, and every day. I'm always singing when I ride my bike; I almost never pick my nose.

It's irrationally exuberant, so sometimes it just can't quite stop for a red light. What can we do? Please excuse us; we were just leaving.

It requires a bicycle... or something with wheels and no engine. It's stately and slow and non-athletic. It's wilkit fun.

It has a powerful social and political message... whatever -- you figure it out.

Join us.
